

Kimball Fuel is a family owned and operated full-service company located in Great Barrington, Massachusetts that is seeking a Massachusetts Licensed Oil and Propane Heat Technician to install, service, and repair home heating systems in residences and commercial establishments. Candidate must be well organized, conscientious, able to function effectively during very busy periods, and represent our business in a professional manner. A good driving record and the ability to work seasonal overtime are also requirements for this position. Air conditioning experience is a plus. We offer competitive wages and excellent benefits including employer paid medical and dental. Please e-mail resume to oilheat08@gmail.com.