Visit the Southern Berkshires

Everywhere you drive – every town you visit – in the Southern Berkshires leads you to something worth seeing and doing, all year long. It's why people who come to the Berkshires return to the Berkshires, year after year. Get to know us during your visit and you'll see why.

Experience our love of the arts: The Berkshires has long been known as a haven for artists seeking creative inspiration from the region's natural beauty and serenity. Today we are a community of working and highly-recognized artists and artisans – writers, photographers, painters, craftsmen, designers, filmmakers, actors, musicians, dancers... and a community that supports the arts in all its forms.

Our art galleries, public spaces, downtown cultural events, farmers markets, and boutique retail shops offer unique opportunities for artists to showcase and sell their work, and for art lovers and patrons of the arts to more intimately connect with artists and the arts experience.

Our celebration of the arts extends to the Performing Arts, where the Berkshires is known the world over as a cultural destination. We are home to such performing arts organizations as the Aston Magna Foundation, Berkshire Bach Society, Berkshire Busk, Berkshire Children's Chorus, Berkshire International Film Festival, Berkshire Opera Festival, Berkshire Theatre Group, Crescendo, Great Barrington Public Theater, and Jacob's Pillow, and venues such as the Mahaiwe Performing Arts Center in Great Barrington, Infinity Music Hall in Norfolk, CT, Dewey Hall in Sheffield, the Colonial Theatre in Pittsfield, The Barn in Egremont, and the Sandisfield Arts Center. Throughout the year, these arts organizations and venues are attracting talent and music lovers from all over the country and around the world, producing seasonal festivals, street performances, a stage for introducing new works and showcasing name performers, and hosting intimate musical performances that make a night out in the Berkshires a memorable experience.

Connect with our history: We are a region with a history that dates back to the Native Americans of the Algonquin nation. Primarily a quiet farming community, by the time the railroad arrived in 1842 business was booming, followed by a wave of immigrants for the labor force and the rich and famous who came to build their vacation “cottages.” Tycoons and tailors, laborers and lawyers, factory workers and farmers all called the Southern Berkshires home. Over the years, many former visitors have adopted the Berkshires as their new home. The special synergy that exists here between people and place has inspired remarkable residents for centuries.

For more on our local history look no further than the Wheeler Homestead, home of the Great Barrington Historical Society & Museum, in Great Barrington. Other sites of historical note include the W.E.B. Du Bois National Historic Site in Great Barrington; Chesterwood, home of American sculptor Daniel Chester French in Stockbridge; and, of course, the beloved Norman Rockwell Museum in Stockbridge. Further north, and well worth the drive, is the Clark Art Institute in Williamstown, with its world-class collection of outstanding French Impressionist, Old Master, and American paintings.

Our love of history also extends to our historic house museums. While here, be sure to visit Naumkeag, a 44-room “cottage” in Stockbridge designed by Stanford White, and the Bidwell House Museum, a c.1760 parsonage house in Monterey. Along the way, stop in at the antique shops that make the Route 7 corridor from Canaan, CT into North Berkshire County, a well-known New England destination for antiquers and collectors of all interests.

Take a drive through our towns: Wherever you decide to go, it is the drive to get there that will make the destination all the more rewarding. With our roadmap to the Southern Berkshires, you’ll drive through charming Colonial towns, and experience the rural landscapes, breathtaking vistas, historic barns, working farms, and beautifully restored 18th-century homes along the way. The backroads through our towns also make bicycling and long walks through nature a nice change of pace and way to experience our region’s natural beauty.

Stay, Play, Dine & Shop: So much to see! So much to do! But in between, find time to shop and dine, and then stay the night with us.

We are a “Buy Local” community of small independent retailers who take pride in the quality and uniqueness of their merchandise, and the customer appreciation they express when you walk through their door. We even have our own currency, BerkShares, which helps save you money when you buy from many of the participating local merchants. Whether you stroll through the stores in downtown Great Barrington or hop in the car for a scenic drive to one of our surrounding towns, you'll find what you're looking for and more in our funky boutiques, upscale lifestyle clothing stores, children's toy stores, independent bookshops, day spas, galleries, home décor showrooms, and specialty food stores.

Our dining options perhaps express our greatest passion as a community: food. Whether you prefer casual dining in a pub or diner; ethnic cuisine; grabbing a sandwich, prepared meal, or pizza to go; exploring a complete farm-to-table menu; picnicking in the fields; or enjoying a fine dining experience by candlelight and a fire, our Chamber member restaurants and community farms – with their knowledgeable chefs and farmers – are here to serve you something fresh at every meal.

You can't do it all in a day, so plan to stay the night. Whether you want the full B&B immersion experience in a historic inn with breakfast in the morning, cookies at tea time, and perhaps a fireplace in your room; an amenity hotel; or a clean, comfortable motel, you will find our member lodging establishments welcoming and helpful when planning your time here. Keep in mind that during certain times of the year, lodging options may be in short supply, so contact your lodging choice and make your reservations as far in advance as possible.

Plan your trip: Chamber member businesses are excited to be re-opening with the 2021 summer season, following all state COVID restrictions and best practices. We welcome your visit and want you to feel safe during your stay.

This regional guide and membership directory, and the Southern Berkshire Chamber's website and Facebook page, are the best places to start planning your trip and to learn more while you are here. You can also turn to our fellow Chambers in Stockbridge, Lenox, Lee and Williamstown for more town-specific information. The Chamber also maintains an active four-season, region-wide calendar of special events, and provides an online resource directory that will help you quickly and easily connect to member businesses for more information. Please consider us a resource.

Hand-carved stone, memorials, gravestones, and fine art projects. Adam works closely with clients to create unique and beautiful hand carved stone memorials and artworks. He offers a rare opportunity for clients to participate in realizing modern projects whose process and creation is rooted in the fullness of this established and ancient tradition. After meeting and communicating with clients, ideas are explored and sketches are produced to clarify and expand the design conversation. Once a final design is agreed upon and material is acquired, sketches are turned into full scale drawings which can then, with confidence and finality, be carved into stone.

Enjoy the Southern Berkshires

Whether you live here year-round, own a second home, or you are paying us a visit, our member businesses offer many fun and different things to do and places to go so anyone can enjoy the Southern Berkshires like a local!

We are a four-season destination: If you love outdoor activities, regardless of the season, we offer something for everyone in the family.

In the Southern Berkshires you can hike portions of the Appalachian Trail, experience waterfalls, rent bicycles for a back-roads tour, charter an aerial tour of the Berkshires, climb Monument Mountain, take a nature walk through Bartholomew's Cobble, zipline down a mountain, view Berkshire fall foliage from a chairlift, swim in the Green River, and ski down the trails at Catamount Mountain Resort or Ski Butternut. There is no shortage of experiences and new ways to appreciate nature and the environment, any time of year.

Shopping enthusiasts can work out by strolling through downtown Great Barrington and driving to explore our surrounding towns to find funky boutiques, upscale lifestyle clothing stores, children's toy stores, independent book shops, galleries, antique shops, home goods showrooms, and specialty food stores.

For those looking for indoor activities, our member businesses offer a range of four-season recreational alternatives.

Want to exercise but not outside? Berkshire South Community Center and the Kilpatrick Athletic Center at Bard College at Simon's Rock, both located in Great Barrington, offer a range of indoor recreational activities for members, including exercise rooms, indoor swimming pools, basketball courts and workout classes.

For those looking for self-care alternatives, we can help you find a day spa, dance or yoga studio, and beauty service providers.

For those looking for more adult forms of recreation, visit our artisan distillers, wineries, and craft brewers. These small-batch crafters turn to the Berkshires' natural resources for inspiration; their products a reflection of their passion and appreciation for their craft. Visit their breweries, wineries, and distilleries for a tasting experience, and ask for their brands by name when you dine out.

The Southern Berkshires is also home to a range of newly-opened recreational cannabis dispensaries for adults 21 and over. Each is designed for a customer-centric experience that is educational and informative, and designed for intelligent consumption.

We appreciate food: It doesn't get any fresher – or closer to the source – than what's brought to the Berkshire table.

Our farms, community gardens, specialty food stores, co-op markets, and farmers' markets embolden our home cooks, foodies, and local chefs to push the culinary boundaries with what is local and in season.

South County's restaurants are known for their continually evolving cuisine, seasonal selections, and gourmet delights created with locally grown and organic meats and produce. Pair any meal with our locally brewed, fermented, and distilled beer, wine, and spirits, and you have a uniquely Berkshire-grown farm-to-table feast!

Our flourishing food culture extends to advocacy for local farmers, growing fresh foods, strengthening local food systems and community-supported agriculture. Farmers' markets, co-op markets, local non-profits, farmers, and local chefs collaborate to showcase the foods and farms in our region, earning the Southern Berkshires a reputation as a destination for food lovers, and the model when it comes to healthy eating and farm-to-table dining.

We support local: Our Chamber business community of local, independently-owned businesses and business professionals, is made up of friends and neighbors; shop owners who know our name, contractors we can trust to show up, healthcare providers who know our story, and bartenders who know "our usual." We show our appreciation by buying local to support local.

The Chamber and its members offer many ways for you to support your local business community, especially during these comeback times.

Purchase BerkShares, our local currency, at any participating local bank and spend them at participating businesses around town, wherever you see the sign. Shopping locally will turn $95 into 100 BerkShares! A win-win for everyone. A list of where to spend BerkShares can be found at www.berkshares.org.

We love our summer camp fun: Many who live here now and visit tell us their earliest introduction to the Berkshires was summer camp. Our day and sleep-away camps provide the traditional summer camp experience, from swimming in lakes to arts & crafts, and plenty of outdoor activities, free from electronic devices. Our summer camps are generations old, every year welcoming back legacy campers and introducing first-timers to a lifetime of memories and experiences in the Berkshires.

We love to live: Yoga on the shore of Lake Mansfield, dinner out – literally on Railroad Street, downtown celebrations, street music, historic walking tours, pop-up arts events, lectures, concerts...we are a special place to live and visit, even if that means doing nothing at all.

Live and Work in the Southern Berkshires

While some might consider us rural, our Chamber members provide the experience and professional services available in any big city with the added benefit of the personal relationships that make living and working in the Berkshires so special. You don't need to look beyond this Chamber member directory to get everything you need to live and work in the Southern Berkshires. What's important to you is important to us, and reflected in the services our member businesses and organizations provide.

Healthcare: Those who are looking to live a healthy, active lifestyle will find holistic practitioners, medical providers, life coaches, physical therapists, yoga instructors, and fitness facilities committed to their success.

Anchoring medical care in the Southern Berkshires is Fairview Hospital located in Great Barrington, a member of Berkshire Health Systems. Additional medical and healthcare services are provided to the community through a variety of private organizations, nonprofits, service providers and medical practitioners. And our safety net organizations and nonprofits such as CHP and VIM ensure no one goes without the services they need.

Elder care and home healthcare services are offered for in-home support and residential placement through private and non-profit organizations, and community members with special needs will find a range of opportunities for residential living and inclusive activities.

Wellness services such as acupuncture, physical therapy, yoga, nutritional guidance, and chiropractic services help residents live a healthy, balanced life through all stages of living.

Community: According to the Nonprofit Center of the Berkshires, an organization focused on providing resources to and promoting the work of the nonprofit community, Berkshire County is home to hundreds of nonprofits, and its residents donate hundreds of millions of dollars annually to help these organizations fulfill the promise of their mission.

Many Berkshire nonprofits support families, adults, babies and youth with community-based services and access to healthcare, food assistance, employment, education, and housing. They offer job readiness and placement services, affordable housing opportunities, literacy education, support services for individuals with disabilities, community engagement, and generally meet the needs of community members at all stages and phases of life.

As a community that cares, shares, and gives back, we donate our time, talents, and resources to support programs, raise money, and volunteer as needed to make ours a welcoming and inclusive community

The environment: In a recent survey conducted by the Southern Berkshire Chamber of Commerce, 88 percent of its members say they consider their business to be “green” or “eco-friendly.” This includes everything from recycling to using energy efficient lights, eco-friendly cleaning materials, using reusable glass bottles, limiting plastics, and composting. You will also see our commitment to reducing our carbon footprint in our many solar fields.

Our architects, designers, builders and homeowners work together to design and build new or renovated homes that employ best green building practices; town Conservation Commissions protect our wetlands and support non-toxic solutions to the environmental challenges in our region; and land trusts help preserve thousands of acres of unspoiled land across the Southern Berkshires for future generations.

We live a farm-to-table lifestyle. We grow our own, support our local farmers by investing in farm shares, and support the region’s many farmers’ markets.

Education: Whether you are a family with young children or an adult looking to pursue an interest, learn a new skill, or indulge your passion for learning new things, the Southern Berkshires is a community that offers and supports a number of public and independent day schools, boarding schools, colleges, and continuing education opportunities to meet the needs of a diverse community that values education at any age.

You only have to look at the Chamber’s website and Facebook page, and the community calendars published by our media members, to see that education does not end at graduation. Our local museums, historical societies, arts and community organizations, educational institutions, local business professionals, and independent bookstores feed the interests and passions of our community's life-long learners all year long through lectures, guest speakers, seminars and workshops.

Community engagement: Our events calendar features concerts, performances, fundraisers, lectures, workshops, and festivals year-round that attract locals and visitors alike. We voice our opinions at town meetings, show up to help our neighbors, and stay connected to what's happening in our communities and throughout our region through the many online and print local news and lifestyle publications that cover and chronicle life in the Berkshires.

Access to professional services: Looking to buy a home or finance a business? Our realtors and banks are and know local. They can help you make informed decisions, and find and finance the ideal property. Looking to get your affairs in order or need legal, business, or financial advice? Our insurance brokers, attorneys, investment managers and accounting professionals have your back, bringing their big city experience to service the needs of their local community.

Looking to launch something new, make a life change, or grow your business? Many of our business coaches, graphic designers, web developers and social media marketers have made the lifestyle choice themselves to live and work in the Berkshires, showcasing their understanding of what it takes to start, build, and grow an independent business. These professionals bring skills and creativity to engagements that get Berkshire-based businesses worldwide recognition.

We love where we live, how we live! Step out of your house and it is hard not to appreciate where you live. Whether it's the view outside your window or the drive you take to work or to run errands, the beauty of our region is everywhere, in every season. We are the complete experience. Enjoy! The Southern Berkshires.
